

Shrinath Bolloju

South Asia Operations and Technology Head

Shrinath Bolloju is the Head of South Asia Operations & Technology (O&T). Based in Mumbai, he will be responsible for all Operations and Technology for Citi franchises in India, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka.

Prior to this, Shrinath was the Chief Operations Officer at RBL Bank, India, where he was responsible for the Bank's Technology, Operations, and Corporate Services. Between 1996 and 2015 he was with Deutsche Bank in various global, regional and country leadership roles across technology, operations and the securities services business of the bank. His last role was Managing Director and Head of Securities Services transformation in the Transaction Banking business, where he successfully led the transformation Strategy for securities services business globally in 32 countries and implemented robust, scalable and efficient platforms for the business units.

Shrinath started his career with Citigroup in 1988 and held various roles at CITIL and COSL till 1995.

Shrinath has 30 years of rich experience across the O&T domains, driving efforts on transformation and digitization. He has led various global leadership roles and has worked in the U.K., Singapore and India.